IBM ITALIA

Offerta: lavoro e stage

1)Software Engineer Internship program

The IBM Software Lab in Rome is looking for a technically gifted, innovative and enthusiastic Software Engineer for an internship program focused on implementing a new Bluemix Application on important areas like Test automation, performance, scalability, security management in terms of IT Governance, Risk and Compliance (GRC). The selected candidate will work in a team environment together with other interns and with assistance from IBM tutors throughout the project completion for a period of 6 months.

Responsibilities of this role include:
Contributing to the design of the application
Developing an enterprise class application on IBM Bluemix by evolving an existing prototype, with a strong focus on usability and performance
Working with IBM team members to help define and implement features
Being responsible for all aspects of delivery

Requirements of this role include:
working knowledge of front-end and back-end application development using the most common design patterns
knowledge of DB Management Systems knowledge of one or more of the following Web Development technologies, , Javascript, HTML, CSS, across multiple browsers

Required
Graduate or graduate student of a Software Engineering related discipline

Fluent English
Capability to work in a global, multicultural and diverse environment

2) Consulting Internship program

IBM Italy is looking for new graduates interested in acquiring fundamental knowledge and skills within Global Business Services (GBS).
After selection, as new graduate you will learn on the world-shaping technologies innovative solutions which are at the heart of every business. You will be a member of the most diverse team you can think of, which is sometimes spread over the globe.
You will be able to take over responsibility consulting clients to improve their value chain and to prepare them to future challenges, by improving their processes and applications.
You will grant client success along the entire application life cycle, starting defining the requirements, designing, implementing, testing and deploying the solution.
You will be also able to maintain and enhance client applications and support users in their day by day activities.
Location Segrate /Rome
Required :
Bachelor's degree in Engineering ,Computer science and Economics
• Attitude and interest in a Consultant career
• Interest in implementing Customer Engagement solution
Preferred :

• Adaptability, Communication, Creative , Problem Solving, Taking Ownership, Teamwork and Collaboration
• Initiative to actively seek new knowledge and improve skills